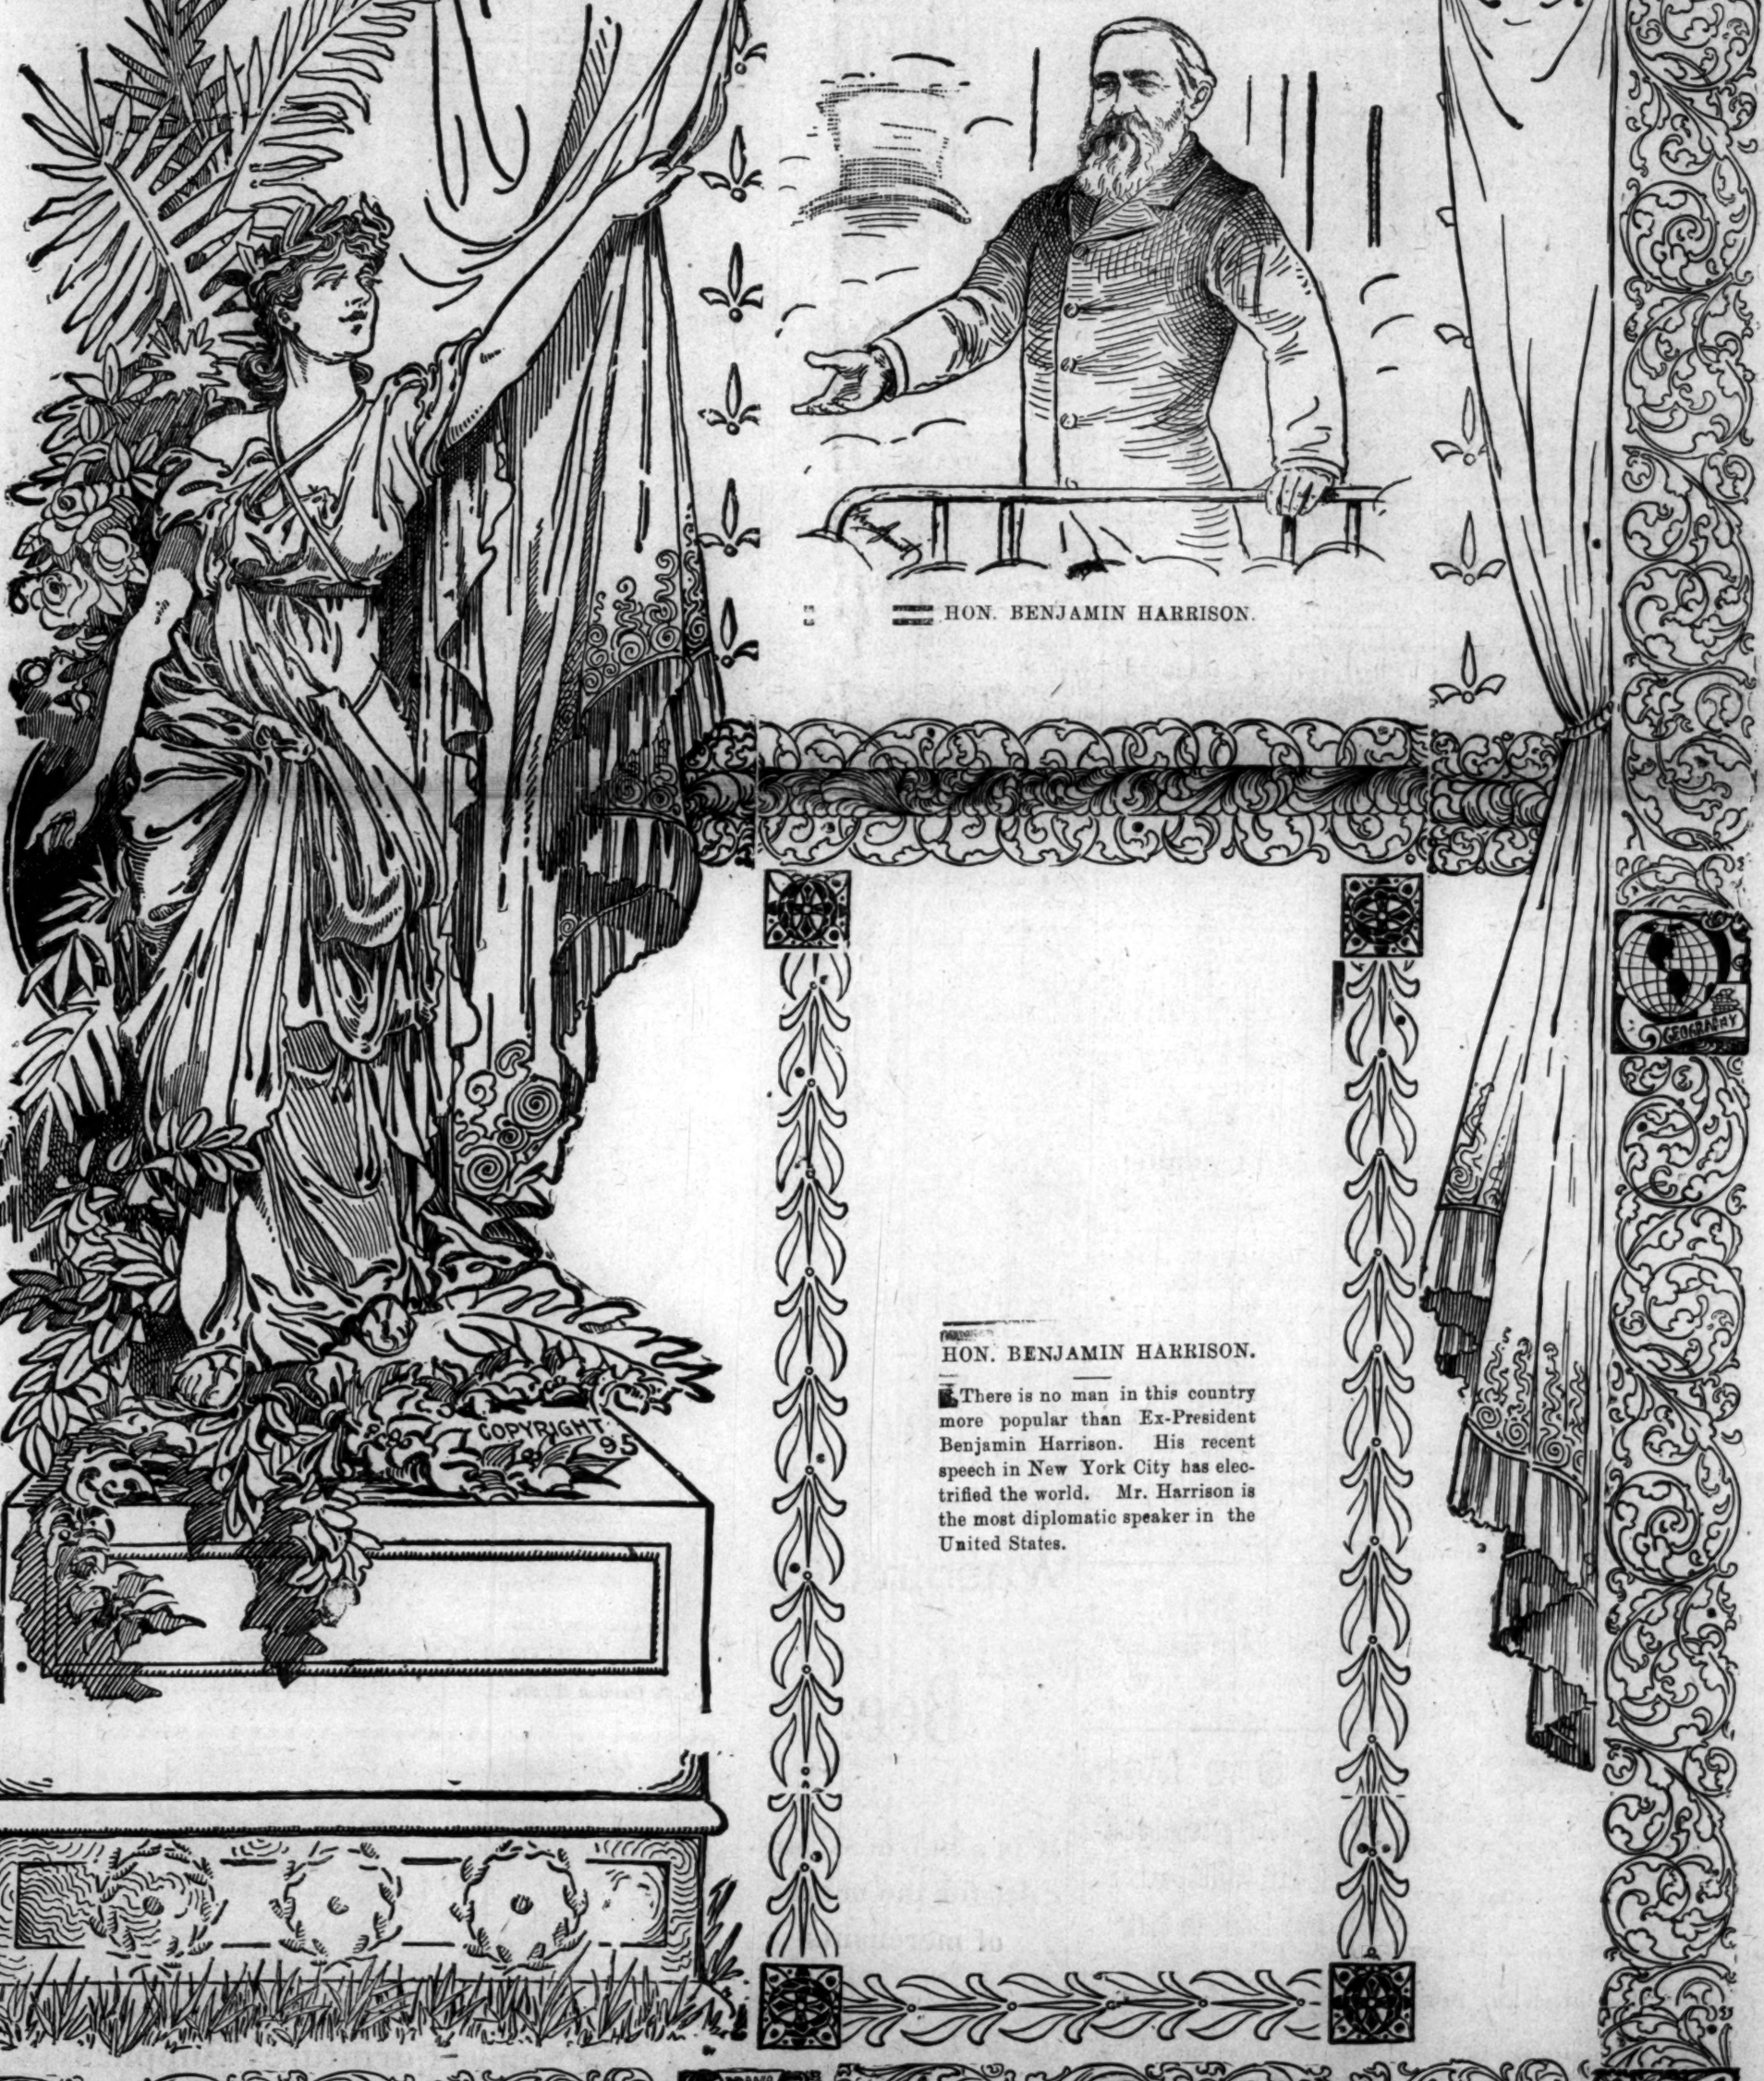
THE WASHINGTON BEE.

VOL. XV. WASHINGTON, D. C., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1896. No. 14.



HON. BENJAMIN HARRISON.

HON. BENJAMIN HARRISON.

There is no man in this country more popular than Ex-President Benjamin Harrison. His recent speech in New York City has electrified the world. Mr. Harrison is the most diplomatic speaker in the United States.

BY THE WAYS

THEY SAY.

THE BEE is in the lead.

You are mistaken if you think we follow.

Great men lead and not follow.

The people follow great things.

Don't be alarmed if you hear a gun go off.

We are not surprised when we hear dogs bark.

Be just and fear not.

The people will not forget what you once said.

It is the great man who tells you great things.

Why should you be surprised.

It is the coward who runs when he is pursued.

Honest men will not betray an honest friend.

No funds was told the American man.

The American man could have remained in the city and transacted his business.

He went to Chicago and got left.

It is always well to go where you are invited.

Why should we be told unpleasant things when we are honest.

It is the honest politician who will not betray you.

There is honesty among politicians.

Always be silent when it is necessary.

Don't be alarmed at a noise.

Be true to your fellowman.

Let the man who is honest speak at all times.

The colored democrats are not in it.

They are looking for a place to go.

Bryan is marching through the north.

The people are marching to McKinley.

THE BEE stopped political assessments two years ago.

Strike while the iron is hot.

Never push a friend when he is going down the hill.

All men are not dangerous.

Never desert an old friend for a new one.

A good friend is always hard to find.

It is the good boy who tells the truth.

Senator Allain has gone home to fight the battle of life.

He is enthusiastic for republican success.

Mr. Perry Heath will see that the proper thing is done.

There is always an enemy around to do you harm.

Why should you forget to serve a friend?

Treat men with respect and consideration.

Your friends will often desert you.

Don't be alarmed at the firing of guns.

It is all noise and smoke.

Let us all live in hopes.

Will our hopes be disappointed?

Be what you seem to be and nothing more.

Your friends will often deceive you.

THE BEE is an up to date journal.

You should read THE BEE to keep informed.

You can always succeed, if you are honest.

Honest people are bound to succeed.

A treacherous man will deceive you.

PLUTONIC JUSTICE.

The governor of Illinois never uttered truer words when he said there was but "little justice for the poor man in this country." The rich in this country can do all kinds of rascality and if there is the least show to hide the villianny perpetrated, every effort is resorted to do so.

The absconding Police Court official after his return to the city, not only was he received with the greatest degree of consideration, but he was placed in a private room in the Police Court, opposite the judge's bench on last Tuesday morning and instead of being locked up as a criminal who had been charged with stealing $5,000, the prosecuting attorney, who is paid by the government to see that the law is vindicated, took Williams by the hand, and remarked to him that he was sorry that he had gotten himself in such a scrape.

There are more deserving criminals who are entitled to more respect and consideration than Williams, and have been shown no mercy or consideration.

A man who commits offenses such as Williams is charged with, deserves no sympathy.

He was not crazy. He knew what the consequences would be when he was discussing the propriety of taking the "filthy lucre."

The excuse of the prosecuting office. was that a larger bond than $4,000 would effect his nervous and shattered constitution. What bosh. Is his frame or constitution any better than any other man who steals and must go to jail?

There are hundreds of people better than Williams, who are now serving a term in jail and the penitentiary for less offense than his.

There are two colored boys serving three years and six months in jail for stealing seven overcoats valued at not more than $100.

THE ELECTION IN VERMONT

The overwhelming republican plurality in Vermont on last Tuesday showed which way the wind was blowing. It is evident that the people are restless and are anxious to return to their first love.

The next cyclone will come from Maine, the home of the democratic nominee. If Maine goes 50,000 republican majority at the home of Mr. Sewell you can depend on it that the election of the republican nominees in November is a certainty.

DR. FRANCIS IN THE SOUTH.

The Star of Zion, edited by one of the best known writers in this country, Rev. J. W. Smith, published at Charlotte, N. C., has a fine pen sketch and cut of one of the most eminent physicians in this country and no doubt the most progressive, Dr. John R. Francis of this city. Rev. Smith pays a compliment to a deserving young man, and one in whom the people, not only of this city, but of the United States have confidence in and respect.

On behalf of the numerous admires of Dr. Francis and the citizens of Washington, THE BEE feels complimented that one of its worthy citizens has been thus honored.

There is more sympathy expressed for thieves now than there is for honest men.

Why not elect all of our judges?

THE BEE will print 50,000 copies a week beginning October first.

JOHN CHAMBERLIN.

The prince, the benefactor and the humanitarian of the social world, John Chamberlin, is dead.

No man, in this country, who has come in social contact with all classes, is better loved than Mr. Chamberlin. He will be missed by the diplomats as well as the foreign potentates of this world.

Whatever his faults were, let them be buried with the dead prince.

Those who wish to advertise in a live paper should patronize THE BEE.

Hall's murderers are still at large.

There will be colored men appointed in the campaign. The mission of THE BEE is fulfilled.

Colored men will be recognized in the republican campaign. This assurance we have received.

Colored democrats who are organizing Bryan Clubs should see to it that proper representation is given them.

The hope is that a race representive will go in the cabinet.

There may be some changes in the school board of trustees. Col. Ross is considering the matter.

If you want an up to date paper, THE BEE is that paper.

POLITICAL FICTION.

BY PRIMROSE.

At the close of the Educational Campaign the graduation will be held on November 3d. You are respectfully invited to attend.

A "strange gold bug" writes to the New York Sun of what he calls "the eternal fitness of the title of the boy orator of the Platte" His explanation is that the platte is 2,500 miles long and only six inches deep.

The bicyeler himself, the country's wheelmen must regret not being able to vote for the eloquent Thos. B. Reed, the man he'd run against would certainly have a time of it.

The Campaign's answered connundrums are now increased by another. Peary in the North is like Bryan, because he'll know what a cold day at the polls means

When newspapers, as in Alabama now, come out with flocks of chickens in their columns, it's a sign the're not roosting on the fence.

Those who worked the majorities in Alabama should not have stopped at forty or fifty thousand, they might have made it in the ratio of sixteen to one.

Mr. Bryan's notification speech has cooled the atmosphere considerable around New York.

Mr. A. H. Pile, secretary of the Silver party has been found dead.

Mr. John Reynolds of the Treasury is for free Silver or any kind of free money.

An Afro-American free silver league has opened its bureau at 711 G street northwest.

L. C. Moore's campaign song was the cause of it. Sure.

In parts of the West, it is a fad with the Populists to shave off hair and whiskers close as Bryan's. This however does not put a different face on that gentleman's prospects.

Viewing the ticket as its head the young orator differs from Li Hung Chang, who has only one tail growing out of his, while the other has two behind.

Senator Hill in the matter of coming out for the ticket is perhaps trying to get over himself, but it seems to be tough climbing.

Prohibition always has a hard fight. Kentucky alone has 90,000,000 galons of whisky in stores. How could any small party hope to get away with it in a campaign.

A curious feature about human nature is that merely because he is able to blow his horn the average politician thinks he should be way up in the band wagon.

TAKES HIGH GROUND.

(From the Advertiser, Beaumont, Texas.)

Editor Chase, of THE WASHINGTON BEE, has taken high ground and a great step forward which is moving out in the right direction. He is interested about his race's welfare and liberty which he feels concerns Afro-Americans a great deal more than the much talked of gold and silver. Therefore Editor Chase gives vent to his feelings by writing a letter to that effect to both of the nominees of the two political parties, and solicits expressions from each, as to what will be the position in regards to lynching Negroes.

For once at a republican demonstration they were not wanted.

Silently and surely they are being ruled out.

CITY OR COUNTRY.

Whether one, newly starting out in life, with very little money and less ambition, shall settle in the country and follow the plough-share, or settle and be swallowed up in the city to share its plowing, is a question that one must decide for himself. And yet young people who imagine me older than I really am, have put to me this question often. Wistful looking damsels of eighteen and would-be men of twenty-one have sought me out in this dark room way up here and asked me to decide this question for them. Letters, during the warm spell, just poured in until I felt the need of a good energetic secretary that could not sleep to assist me to read these questions, all to the same point, which was the better, country or city life? I waited until the weather changed, thinking my views might change with it, ere I dared answer such an important question for these anxious young people. And I now trust my answer will give them more satisfaction than the answers of the candidates for the Presidency gave to us in your issue of a few weeks ago.

LIFE IN THE COUNTRY.

Life in the country has always been to me the most idealistic: this is, perhaps because I never lived there very much, and having spent the most of my twenty-seven years housed up in a hot smoking city, I am ready to consider the country life a charm. I have never had to rise at 3 or 4 in the morning, kick as well as groom the horses, milk the very docile cows, cut fire-wood for the large fire-places which can only be started with a cord, go a mile to the spring house, get the butter for breakfast, and a pail of water, and kill three snakes on my return home Of course I have never experienced such, and therefore country life has always been the most idealistic to me.

To rise at five in the mornings of the spring, summer and fall months, take a walk out into the green fields, hear the birds sing and the dogs bark and the farm hands whistling and the women cooing softly to the mild-eyed cows "co-suck, co-suck, co, co, co," and then watch how quickly they fill a pail with nice, rich Jersey milk from a non-breed cow, and see that cow put her foot squarely into that pail—now if this is not too poetic to be poetry I know nothing of rhyme and metre. I tell you, to be under some shade tree while the haymakers perspire in the broiling sun, and sing their songs of pastoral love, with some sweet girl reading you "Lucile" or some other interesting book, is more idealistic than real. To hurry home at evening for supper after you have spent nearly two hours crossing a 2-acre field, because Kate was interested in your explanation of the sun set, and loved to hear you speak of the stars and flowers, while you hear the farm boy's voice calling far away over the hills "Ho, boss, ho, boss, ho, ho, ho!" and the whip-poor-will in the valley yonder where the trees are thick, sending forth his plaintive strains "whip-poor-will, whip poor will, whip-poor-will" or on yonder tall, ghast-like, dead tree, the song of the nightingale sweet and clear, and to crown all this, to skiff on the quiet air the scent of the coffee and the fried bacon and the black-eyed peas! there is not anything in a real city home to beat this, is there?

Yes, and for an education. You may walk not over 6 miles nor less than five to a log building, accommodating about thirty children with an average attendance of ten, to either a girl-like woman or a man-like boy, and have the same lesson taught you for five years in succession till you dream of it each night, run off every word during the day. I say you have a perfectly idealistic life, don't you?

OUR WOMEN.

Mrs. E. V. C. Williams, Editor.

To the Editress of the Woman's Column, Dear Madam: Permit me through your valuable column to add a few thoughts to what has already been said relative to the nomenclature of a certain class of American citizens.

Distributed over this entire globe, and, constituting the population of the five great continents mainly, are many peoples of various tongues, manners and customs, each classified by distinguishing names because of these marked differences. In considering the human family, but three great classes or races may be named viz: the Caucasian, the Mongolian and the Ethiopian. The number corresponding with that of Noah's sons, who peopled the earth after the deluge. The descendants of Japheth being the Mongolians; of Ham, the Ethiopians, and of Shem, the Caucasians.

In peopling the globe, it was Shem to give it to the mighty Caucasian race, the abode of which was Europe. Japheth planted the Mongolian in Asia, and Ham, the Ethiopian in Africa.

In the natural order of events and consequent movements toward civilization, these three great families were scattered, thus becoming identified with other than their own localities. By this course of events the population of Europe embraced the Mongolians and Caucasians, Asia the same two branches, and Africa the Ethiopian and Caucasian.

Growing out of these great races are many nations: 1. To the Caucasian may be assigned (a) the Celtic race, including the Scotch, Irish, Welch, etc.; (b) the Teutonic race including the German, Dutch, English, Dane, etc.; (c) the Slavonian, belonging to which, are the Russian, Poles, etc.; (d) the Greek; (e) the Latin within which are the Italian, French, Spaniard, etc.

2. The Mongolian race like the Caucasian has many sub-divisions prominently the Turk, Lappo Finn, Japanese, Chinese, etc.

3. The Ethiopian race, the descendants of Ham, comprises among other types, the Negro, Egyptian, Berber, Rabyle, Bantus, Hottentot and Bushman, etc.

Now, America, the New World, was peopled by these many nations from the Old. These immigrants do not lose their identity upon reaching this their adopted home, but are distinguished by the same nomenclature as they were at home.

A German immigrant is no less a German upon reaching this or any other country. Since he has adopted America as his home, by the naturalization law he is an American citizen, and is clearly, therefore, a German-American.

His children, born on American soil, are Americans pure and simple, otherwise the constitution of the United States is wrongly constructed. Now, what is true in the German's case is equally true in that of a Frenchman, a Hottentot or a Negro, under the same circumstances.

I have showed that all the inhabitants of Africa are not Negroes, any more than all Europeans are Italians or Asiatics, Chinese. This being a fact, why should every immigrant of Africa be classed as a Negro? Negroes are but one of the many types found there.

In the slave traffic is it reasonable to presume that only the one type captured? I think a little research will show that Ethiopians irrespective of types were secured to further this pernicious trade, and so if a Negro was brought here and enslaved, he was a Negro-American; if a Bantus, a Bantus-American; while the children and descendants of these captives were and are Americans for the same reason that all other natives are Americans, unless some other rule must be applied to them.

Why there is a constant inclination on the part of malcontents to lose their identity and be anything but what they are is a pitiable state of affairs.

And pray since we are Americans pure and simple, because born upon American soil and know no other people or language than that about us, why must we be reaching out for some handle by which we may be known? Do we require more to distinguish us than other Americans? Are we met with such terms as Asiatic-American, European-American to distinguish the other two great branches? If not, why should Afro-American be used for this one? Do we hear White Americans, Red Americans, etc.? Then why Colored American? For my part I am content to be known by my proper nomenclature, that which custom has established for the other races and what clear logic must establish for us—an AMERICAN.

Why should I have to be labelled when others are not?

Let us give more of our time to the uplifting of this much discussed people and less to the name, and we will produce a race grand and noble, with which we will be proud to be classed and we will be forced to acknowledge that there is nothing in a name after all.

POINTERS.

Ella: If a woman wants to retain the affections of her devoted husband she should be as interested in her husband's friends as she is in her own.

Etta: "Young married people should live alone" is a thought which I have always cherished. Remember that when a couple lives with their own people for years and then begins to housekeep it is just like starting anew in life, and it is then twice as hard to accumulate, as it would have been, had they lived alone from the start.

Student: In beginning your study my advice is to select well written history or biography. In reading such books you will not only get facts, but you will come into association with a cultivated mind, and if you read carefully, thoroughly and studiously, you will learn to use better language and will think in a clearer manner.

To accomplish anything one must work systematically and have his mind on his occupation. No one was ever known to think of two or three things at once and think well.

Maud: The greatest fault with most of our girls is their neglect of duty in a business capacity. No girl can expect to hold a position of trust, when she has given her employer cause to doubt her fidelity.

Pearl: Your face is most too smal to wear the soft slouch hat, which is so much in vogue this fall. Get a black straw, trimmed in the new purple ribbon, violets and black ostrich plumes, which you can wear until cold weather.

My Dear Girls: You all could excite an admiration of sentiment, composed of esteem, respect and love, if you would only be a little more careful of how you act, what you say and do.

There is no virtue that makes one so beautiful as the one that makes you the giver of good advice. The presence of such an owner will be demanded to make peace and happiness.

Edna: You say the man began by telling you of his wealth? No true gentleman would do such a thing on first acquaintance. When a man is about to propose, that is the time he should make his wealth known.

Rosa: Gossipers are very dangerous. The person to be watched is the one who criticises another for just what he himself is doing.

Nothing multiplies as much as kindness. It is not wise to seek happiness, while we are not willing to be good.

Recipe: Remove coffe stains from a white dress with the yolk of an egg mixed with twenty drops of glycerine; wash off with warm water and iron on the wrong side. A table spoonful of salsoda in a gallon of cold rinsing water will improve green and pink shades.

Laura: When a true woman loves a man she lives only for him. The woman whose husband is not uppermost in her mind will sooner or later be separated from him.

J. F. E.: Probably the surest remedy for black beads is the bathing of one's face every night with very hot water, and then rubbing in very gently some cold cream. In the morning wash well with hot water and castile soap, then give it a bath in tepid water to remove the soap suds.

Fashion: Grass linen can not be worn for mourning wear, although it may have black collar and cuffs.

Brown, cadet blue, gray and green will be the chief fall colors. Black as usual will be in high favor.

Plain black satin shirts will still be worn with odd silk and fancy waists, for dressy occasions. Shirts will still have a flare on the lower edge, and will run in width from five to six yards.

Bob: I am glad to answer questions to my boy friends, who seem to be on the increase. I don't believe in young girls giving their pictures to their men friends, consequently I can not encourage you to ask the girl for one. If your letter was only a social one, it should have been commenced, "My dear Miss Dutch."

Be true to your friends and kind to your neighbors. We know not to-day what assistance we may need to-morrow.

A person who glories in his own haughtiness will soon be a dependent wreck of misery and shame.

The person who illy treats another without cause or provocation, usually comes to misery of the most pitiable nature.

It is wise to do to others as you would like to be treated, except you have a cause to do otherwise.

The person who helps another in distress, is often the first one to be forgotten.

TAKE YOUR VACATION NOW.

Go to picturesque Mackinac Island via the D. & C. (Coast Line). It only costs $13.50 from Detoit, $15.50 from Toledo, $18.00 from Cleveland for the round trip, including meals and berths. Delivery Horse badly used up. Cured by

MUSTANG LINIMENT.

Read letter below.

MR. JOHN H. FISHER.

New Berne, N. C., Feb. 26, 1895.

Lyon Manufacturing Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—Our delivery horse was so badly stove up in his fore leg and shoulder that we could not use him. After using Mexican Mustang Liniment on him I found that it completely cured him and left him in the best of condition. I think there is a good deal in applying the Liniment properly. I bathed the swollen parts with warm water and castile soap. Then I applied Mexican Mustang Liniment freely, rubbing it in thoroughly, and my horse was all right in two weeks. Yours truly, JOHN H. FISHER, Grocer, 117 Broad St.

The Butler Zouaves are going to Alexandria with flying colors. Capt. Alexander Oglesby has sent a letter to Chairman Robinson, at Alexandria, that the Butler Zouaves has accepted his invitation and will come to Alexandria, September 22, and take part in the great National encampment parade, headed by the Butler Drum Corps.

Mr. S. E. Lacey was elected president of the American Wheelmen.

The South Washington wheelmen are becoming very popular.

The popular excursion of the Billies will be a great affair.

Billie Lee and Billie Brooker are the boys.

HIS FALL.

The terrible and disastrious fall of Police Officer Daniel Williams, who through temptations for municipal money, experienced such woeful treatment in such time in St. Louis, Mo., tells that the jail of the District of Columbia and the penitentiary at Albany threatens him.

But when he remembers that the great persecution of 1879 on the 25th of December, when the first blood was drawn at M and Third street that the disgraceful name, "blood field," was applied to South Washington, surely he would not expect any other expression from Afro-American citizens of that community thirty thousand in numbers than "that you shall reap what you sow."

In the police court on Wednesday every effort was made to keep him from appearing in court. His whiskers are closely shaven, that tends to give him all the appearance of an oppressed and an injured criminal.

It is alleged that $5,000 was embezzled, but he was only required to give $3,000 bond. This is justice with a vengeance.

The popular and genial Robert H. Ford has opened a first-class pool room at No. 211, Eleventh street northwest. You all know Bob Ford. Mr. Ford is the sole owner and proprietor of this popular place of amusement. Mr. Ford is assisted by Mr. Harry Miller, well known to the boys.

SECRET ORDERS.

EDITORIAL SYNOPSIS.

Talking about splits, why even Ex-President Benj. Harrison lauds bolters. He says that splits are needed. He claims that a party that can not be split is a public menace. Mr. Harrison in making these remarks had reference to politics at the big republican rally in New York, August 27. The same can be said of Free Masonry. Whenever men get so fine in office that they try to overdue the thing, why impeach them and split the whole business. Whenever you see men who desire to live in office, you can safely put it down that there is something in it. Mr. Harrison in the course of his remarks said that he was on the republican retired list not by reason of age limit, but that the younger men might have a chance and he a rest. I would suggest that some of these old Masons who desire to die in harness follow the advice of Mr. Harrison and get out of the game. You all know that you can't cope with young blood. Old men for counsel, young men for war. Now, I see by the last week's copy of THE BEE that the Masons of the District of Columbia are trying to do our friend, Seville. In the first place, what has Seville's wife and children got to do with his secret society fights. I will state in justice to the facts as presented in the case that there is only a certain element who are engaged in this move. In the first place if the matter had been treated in the proper manner, the whole disturbance to-day would not be here, but no, we will drive them in or out by the high power, etc. I hereby decapitate, and being beaten we will now have him bounced, (that is if we can do so) and make him walk the streets like a vagabond. The good book says that they who interfere with my little ones had better have a mill stone around their necks. Relative to the three celebrated edicts, I would suggest that if the money that was expended for the printing and the postage had been given to some of the distressed widows and orphans who are walking the streets, great good would be accomplished. These edicts are splendid illustrations of what men will do who know it all, but can't think of it. I would suggest that each Royal Arch Mason examine carefully these celebrated books, and see if they are in keeping, etc. Relative to the split, I will state for the information of all parties that what has been done before can be done again. The grand lodge of English Masons from whom the colored brethren derived their right to work Masonry, was formed in London, England, A. D. 1717, by four lodges. In 1725 A. D., a rival grand lodge was formed at York, England. In 1750 A. D., a third grand lodge was formed at London, England. In 1779 A. D., a fourth grand lodge was formed for England, South of the River Trent. In 1813 A. D., these grand bodies consolidated into the United grand lodge of England. Now, in 1774 A. D, the colored brethren received the degrees of Free Masonry in Boston, Mass. At the time the colored brethren received their degrees in 1774 A. D. there were three grand lodges in England. Now the grand question presents itself to the Masonic student which one of these grand lodges were legal? Now, if in ninety-six years four grand lodges could be made in England, why I claim that two grand lodges have a right to exist in the District of Columbia, more especially when it has been done before. As an eminent lawyer once said, "No matter what law you have you can drive a horse and buggy between." In other words you could find a flaw to make a point. Now, is not this right?

After which an address was made by G. E. Wilson, of Marysville, on the subject of "Odd Fellowship," which was followed by a dance and the traditional banquet.
